

World Peace Cafe with Tony Coleo

Wednesday, 05 September 2007

Last Updated Wednesday, 05 September 2007

Tony Coleo, the chef at the World Peace Cafe in Sandy Springs, Georgia was my guest on Beyond the Measuring Cup at Radio Sandy Springs.

Check out the World Peace Cafe and say hello to Tony at:

227 Sandy Springs Place Ne Suite 302. Right across Hammond Dr. from the Whole foods shopping center in Sandy Springs.

call : 404-256-2100

or check out the website at:

www.worldpeacecafeatlanta.com

The World Peace Cafe Atlanta is an outgrowth of the Rameshori Buddhist Center in the Atlanta area. Most of the wait staff are volunteers from the Buddhist Center nearby. There are 7 total World Peace Cafe's in the world, from Hong Kong to Paris, to England.

Tony Coleo is the chef of this peaceful retreat from the hectic world. He uses classic concepts in cooking to enhance the vegetarian menu. You will find sandwiches like Tony's Pimento Cheese to "The Full Veggie". Their wonderful salads are filling and fresh. If you're looking for entrees you will find Mushroom stroganoff or Grilled Polenta Cake with Eggplant Caponata. Chef Tony is inventive and loves experimenting with new food. Every effort is made to incorporate local, and organic food in the menu.

It is important to Chef Tony Coleo to have a peaceful mind set when he is cooking. We talked about how important that is to the actual taste of the food. The person who is cooking actually imbues the food with their intention. Stop the cafe to get your dose of peace.

Check out the World Peace Cafe and say hello to Tony at:

227 Sandy Springs Place Ne Suite 302. Right across Hammond Dr. from the Whole foods shopping center in Sandy Springs.

call : 404-256-2100

or check out the website at:

www.worldpeacecafeatlanta.com